

Zbigniew Popek is a professor of Warsaw University of Life Sciences at Department of Water Engineering. He teaches river engineering, river restoration, flood control and landscape engineering at Faculty of Civil and Environmental Engineering and Faculty of Horticulture and Landscape Architecture.

The Ph.D. he obtained in 1988 from Warsaw Agricultural University at Faculty of Land Reclamation. The main his research activity is connected with river hydraulics and sediment transport as well as engineering aspects of river's and lake's maintenance and restoration according to economic, nature and environmental requirements. He has been coordinator and main executor of several research grants. The author of four books and monographs, over 50 papers and about 80 non-publishing scientific works. Professor Zbigniew Popek has received several distinctions and awards, including the silver medal of services and nine awards of WULS Rector and Ministry of Sciences.

More information: (see here)